Killarney Provincial Park Lake and Portage Descriptions

LITTLE BELL LAKE, Killarney Provincial Park

PORTAGE FROM LITTLE BELL LAKE TO BALSAM LAKE

This portage can be found in the small bay at the northern are of the lake. A quick and easy 125m portage should present no difficulty.

There is only one portage in and out of this lake and Little Bell has only one campsite making it very secluded. Little Bell Lake, at one time joined Balsam Lake and Chain Lake to Bell Lake through a small creek. This creek is no longer paddle able; but is a great guideline for anyone looking for a bit of adventure.

Up for an adventure? Check out Chain Lake! Paddle to the southernmost arm of Little Bell Lake until it is impassable. Leave the canoes pulled up on the shoreline and hike along the side of the creek to find Chain Lake. Remember to wear proper footwear as areas can be somewhat damp at times. Don't forget to bring along a map and compass while hiking along unmarked areas.
